

Food Poisoning Hits Hundreds Across Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Several hundred people were stricken by food poisoning at weekend outings across the country.

Almost 1,000 persons have been stricken in less than two weeks. About 145 became ill at the annual outing of a radio materials firm in Attica, Ind., Saturday night. A week before, at Angola, Ind., at another company outing, 750 persons were stricken. That outbreak was blamed on ham sandwiches which had stood for several hours in an unrefrigerated truck in 85-degree heat.

In Cheyenne, Wyo., food poisoning struck down 64 people at two group picnics Sunday.

In Milwaukee, 17 persons were hospitalized after eating at a cafeteria at the Wisconsin State Fair in Cincinnati, Ohio, at least 11 persons were stricken after attending a religious singing festival.

More than 50 victims were still in hospitals in Wyoming today while all but 12 had been sent home from Indiana hospitals.

Busey No. 1 blew in as a gusher on January 10, 1921. This was Arkansas' first oil well and started the "oil boom" at El Dorado. Today, petroleum is by far the leading mineral resource in Arkansas, accounting for 62% of the total value of all Arkansas minerals produced.

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Some 5,000 sitdown strikers blocked the entrances of the U.S. Embassy for four hours today, demanding that the United States prevent repatriation of Koreans from Japan to Communist North Korea.

No one could leave or enter the embassy.

Informed sources said Khrushchev made the point in moderate but firm letters last week to Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and President Charles de Gaulle.

One observer noted that the Khrushchev letters were sent out a week before President Eisenhower is slated to visit Bonn, London and Paris for talks preceding Khrushchev's arrival in Washington.

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP)—Catholics worshipped without police interference in Haiti's Notre Dame Cathedral Sunday, but the dispute between state and church remained as bitter as ever.

Church officials still awaited a reply to their protest against last Tuesday's invasion of the cathedral by police who arrested 41 members of a lay organization praying in protest against the expulsion of two priests from Haiti.

Britannic's Skipper Fired by Cunard

LIVERPOOL, England (AP)—Britannic's skipper has fired the skipper of its 27,000-ton liner Britannic reportedly for being too attentive to a woman passenger.

Capt. James D. Armstrong, 53, tersely confirmed his dismissal from the line he has served for 30 years.

"It's all because of an alleged incident at the captain's table during an Atlantic crossing," he said, adding that he had turned the matter over to his lawyers.

A friend was more explicit: "It is the captain's duty to entertain passengers at his table," he said. "This of course includes women passengers."

"It is not easy to know when you are overstepping the mark in some people's view. I understand there was a complaint following the Britannic's crossing from New York to Liverpool in June."

Armstrong, a gray-haired Irishman, was summoned to the general manager's office in Liverpool and given the choice of resigning or being fired.

The captain, who had eight years to go before retirement, was due to take over command of either the Queen Mary or the Queen Elizabeth next year.

Survivors include a son and a daughter. Funeral arrangements were incomplete.

Chapter XXV

The door of his room was open. He paused, looking at the long length of him stretched out on the bed, a towel compress across his face. She had been in this room, and the warmth of a quick flush beat through her cheeks. She moved across the threshold and, quiet as she was, he caught the rustle of movement and his words came, muffled.

"Didn't take you long to get the water, youngster."

Katherine drew a deep breath. "This is Katherine Levening."

He surged upright, whipped the towel off his face. His hair, water dampened, was tousled and awry, and past the brushes and the swellings he stared at her with a startled, almost boyish wonder. Then, as he swung his feet to the floor and stood up, he was again a grave, reserved man.

"I don't quite understand," he said.

"I—I'm glad to see you weren't hurt too badly."

"Thanks for the concern," he said drily.

Her head came up. "That retort down—you won't need it any longer. I can tell you about the man you're looking for."

"You mean—Jack Breerton?" She nodded.

"I've the feeling," Haskell said slowly, "that Breerton could be dead. Am I right?"

"Yes. He was shot."

"Would you know who killed him?"

"Yes." She had gone slightly pale, but her glance did not waver. "Yes. I know. My father."

Haskell waited, saying nothing. Presently she went on, her words subdued and tentative.

"In the fight Dad was hit, too, and at first it seemed he must surely die. Doctor Venable managed to remove the bullet, which had lodged against the spine. For months it seemed certain Dad would be paralyzed, even if he did live, though Doctor Venable claimed steadily there was a chance for recovery. Yet at last, it will be months before he'll be able to leave his bed."

"Why do you come to me now?" Haskell asked. "Why not?"

"It was becoming increasingly plain you were bound to find out." With deep honesty she added, "It was not my thought."

Girl Admits Beating Child to Death

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Police charged Betty Joe Ellis, 18, with murder Sunday after she said she beat her infant son and stuck him repeatedly with a safety pin.

An autopsy showed the baby, Robert Jessie Ellis, suffered ruptures of the stomach and pancreas and four broken ribs.

Mrs. Ellis told police the infant had cried a lot since its June 5 birth and that Thursday she stabbed him with a safety pin while changing his diaper.

"I don't know how many times I stabbed him," the small dark-haired woman sobbed. She and her husband, Robert Ellis, who was on a fishing trip when the incident occurred, have a 14-month-old daughter, Linda.

law or dodge it any longer. If we try it we're only storing up more trouble for Jim Levening."

"I know," Katherine cried. "I know! I'll put a stop to that nonsense Vince is preaching."

"He's wild. He's crazy," Sandy warned. "I doubt he'll listen to you."

"Maybe he won't, but the others will."

She had been riding at a jog. Now she put her horse to a dashing run, and by the time she and Sandy reached the home meadow, the length of it on up the incline to headquarters, both of their mounts were foaming.

Several of the crew were gathered about the farmhouse door, and they shifted uneasily as Katherine and Sandy stormed in. Vince Tandler stood in the farmhouse door. His appearance startled her, shocked her. Something had happened to this man besides a physical beating.

This man had let go all hold of something which had once held him to a reasonable responsibility and respect.

"Vince, there will be no more talk of going to town and starting further trouble. I just came from having a talk with Grady Haskell. I told him the whole truth about Dad and his fight with Breerton. So we are now through quarreling with the law or trying to evade it. Understand—through!"

He stared at her without expression, his eyes sultry coils.

"You got nothing to say about it?"

"I have everything to say!" she retorted sharply. "Any one of you who goes against my wishes in this matter is no longer riding for Hayfork."

She swung about, her glance touching different members of the crew. One of them, Jeff Keough, nodded. A solid, dependable sort, he was one whose opinion counted with the others.

"What's good enough for you, Miss Katie, is good enough for us. Chores to do, boys. Let's get at 'em."

Gleam of Love Outshines Her Glittering Diamonds

Dear Dorothy Dix: My husband is a wonderful man who has given me a lovely home, my own car, beautiful clothes, jewelry and a generous allowance. I'd trade them all for a little affection, an off-schedule kiss and "I love you" once in a while. I'm eating my heart out over this. I show affection for him but he never reciprocates.—H.S.

Dear H.S.: A man offers the supreme display of affection when he asks, "Will you marry me?" and most affectionate displays and there, too. Sweet nothings do not come easily to the majority of males. After marriage they show their love by working hard to support a family, being generous, worrying over the clock and passing up girls who make eyes at them. Women, however, do not take these things as signs of love. They prefer words and music. Since talk is cheaper than motor cars or milk it's too bad a man doesn't save the money and give with the gab. Any woman should understand this and eat the good roast beef that Dad provides instead of eating her heart out.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am a very happy, contented wife and mother but would like to do something constructive with my little spare time. I have quite a talent for poems, jingles, etc., and wonder if I could put this accomplishment to work for me.—Joanne

Dear Joanne: Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet, "So You Want to Write." It lists helpful books and magazines that will tell you how to put your material into acceptable form and were to market it.

Dear Dorothy Dix: My best friend is being married in a month. The newlyweds are going on a camping trip and, since this is something neither one has done before, they are very excited about it. They claim the suitcase is perfect for a honeymoon. However, the girl's mother says that since the family has never camped out she thinks it would be lucky if the whole family—mother, father and three children—went along. My friend has always been dominated by her mother and is afraid to say "no." Her fiancé hates to start married life with in-law trouble and won't tell them to stay home either.—Rosalie

Dear Rosalie: You seem to have spunk. You tell your friend's family that honeymoons are built for two—not seven.

Send your problem to DOROTHY DIX. The sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, and address her care of this newspaper.

Handled Crisis Wrong, Fulbright Says

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Sen. J. William Fulbright said yesterday that in his opinion "there's no doubt" that Gov. Orval E. Faubus mishandled the Little Rock school integration crisis.

It was Fulbright's first public statement criticizing Faubus in the two-year-old controversy.

The senator made the comment in reply to a question asked him on "Face the Nation," a CBS television program broadcast from Washington.

A questioner wanted to know if Fulbright believed Faubus handled the situation wrong.

The senator replied: "I do, there's no doubt about it."

"There are very few people who don't think so that I am aware of in Little Rock," he added.

In 1957 Faubus blocked court-authorized entry of nine Negro pupils to Central High School until a federal judge specifically ordered him to desist. Last year he closed all public high schools were under a state law which a federal court now has declared invalid.

While criticizing Faubus' actions, Fulbright said he thought the United States Supreme Court's desegregation decision was "ill-timed and very unwise."

"I have deplored the unwise decision," Fulbright said, "but it is erroneous to say that the court doesn't have the power."

Fulbright said "many people assume" that Faubus will oppose him in the 1962 senatorial race, when he is up for renomination.

Faubus hasn't said so but he has made no effort to discourage speculation along that line.

Fulbright replied, "well, in a general way, yes," when asked if events at Little Rock had hurt him.

On another subject, Fulbright said it was too early to make a choice for the Democratic presidential nominee in 1960. However, he termed Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas "one of the best qualified men."

Cancer Victim to Return to Laos

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Dr. Thomas A. Dooley says cancer may let him live only five or six years, but he is determined to return to embattled Laos. He operates a hospital near the front lines of Laos' battle against Communist rebels.

The 32-year-old physician said a growth removed from his chest has been diagnosed as malignant melanoma.

"The outlook for this type of cancer is bleak," he said. "It usually means you have five or six years."

"I don't care what the outlook is. It's six months or 16 years. I'm going back to Laos in November."

"The fate of Laos is more important than the Berlin crisis. The future of all Southeast Asia rests with the outcome of the situation in Laos."

Dr. Dooley, who visited his mother here, flies to New York today for further diagnosis at the Sloan-Kettering Cancer Research Center.

Chisox Lose Full Game to 2nd Place Indians

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Until this year, Frank Lane always has boasted his best deals were those which brought pitcher Billy Pierce and second baseman Nellie Fox to the Chicago White Sox. The valuable Cleveland general manager is now ready to add a third.

On March 21 of this year, Lane traded veteran Larry Doby to Detroit for a utility outfielder who batted only .254 last year. His name? Tito Francona. It has turned out to be Lane's best trade as an Indian chief.

The 25-year-old Francona has been the Indians' best hitter ever since he was placed in the regular lineup. He is the league's No. 1 hitter with a .379 batting average, 17 home runs and 64 runs batted in, but has not been at bat enough times to qualify for the top spot officially. Doby, incidentally, is in the minor leagues.

Francona hit two home runs Sunday. His first came in the ninth inning of the opener that snapped a scoreless pitching duel between Cleveland's Jim Perry and Boston's Tom Brewer, and gave the Indians a 1-0 victory.

It was the third time this season Tito has hit a game-winning homer in the final inning. His second homer came in the first inning of the nightcap, also won by the Indians 6-2. He swept advanced the Indians to within a game and a half of league-leading Chicago.

The White Sox lost a full game to Cleveland when they were held to a split in their twin bill with New York. The Yankees won the first game 7-4, but the Sox came back to take the nightcap 5-0.

Detroit trounced Baltimore 3-5 before rain washed out the second game of their scheduled twin bill. It was scheduled to be played today. Washington split with Kansas City, winning the first game 7-3 and losing the second 5-2.

A three-run homer by Minnie Miñoso featured Cleveland's five-run blast in the fourth inning, snapping a 1-1 second-game tie. Jack Harshman, doing out only four hits in five relief innings, was credited with his second victory in a week. Young Perry allowed only three hits in his eighth victory.

The seventh was the vital inning in each game of the White Sox-Yankee doubleheader. In the first game, pinch-hitter Enos Slaughter singled in two runs with the bases full to snap a 1-1 tie and give Art Ditmar his ninth triumph and Early Wynn his eighth defeat.

In the second game, Sherman Lollar clouted his 19th home run in the seventh to ignite a five-run rally against Ralph Terry. A crowd of 44,250 largest of the year at Comiskey Park, saw young Bob Shaw hurl a six-inning shutout.

Eddie Yost hit a grand slam homer and Harvey Kuenn, the league's official leading hitter, had five for five to help Detroit's Frank Lary post his 18th triumph. Baltimore's Bob Nieman hit two home runs in a losing cause and had another wiped out when rain interfered after a half inning of the second game.

Kansas City scored all its five runs in the third inning of the second game to gain its split with Washington as Johnny Kucks turned in a four-hitter. Camillo Pascual won his 12th for the Senators in the opener. He was assisted by second baseman Ken Aspromonte who rapped two doubles and a single.

The rank of lieutenant general of the army was created by Congress in 1855 as a special honor for Winfield Scott, commander of the army during the Mexican War and Whig candidate for president in 1852. When the War of 1812 broke out, Scott, then a lieutenant colonel, went to the Canadian frontier where he was captured by the British. A few months later he was returned to the U.S. in an exchange of prisoners.

Face Makes It 16 as Pirates Stun Dodgers

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Elroy Face may do it yet. The little Pittsburgh relief ace needs only three more victories to equal Babe Marquard's record of 19 consecutive triumphs in one season and Carl Hubbell's two-season streak of 24.

Face made it 16 in a row for 1955 and 21 since May 20, 1953 Sunday as the Pirates stunned Los Angeles with a sweep of a doubleheader 9-2 and 4-3 in 10 innings.

The 5-8 inch right-hander took over in the ninth behind the lead second game score 3-3. He hurled scoreless ball over two innings and capped the decision when Dick Groat singled with the bases loaded in the bottom of the 10th.

The Dodgers' double defeat dropped them into third place, a half game behind the Milwaukee Braves who defeated the Chicago Cubs 3-0. Los Angeles if now 4½ lengths behind the first place San Francisco Giants, whose scheduled doubleheader in Philadelphia was rained out. Cincinnati whipped St. Louis 5-3 for a sweep of the three-game series.

Don Drysdale, Dodger ace, was charged with both Los Angeles defeats. As a starter in the opener, he was routed in the third inning when the Pirates broke loose for four runs to overcome a 1-0 deficit. As a reliever in the eighth and the winning run in the 10th.

Bill Virdon, Pittsburgh center-fielder, blasted seven hits. He had a double, two singles and a walk in the opener, and two singles, a double and a home run in the nightcap. He ignited the winning rally with two out in the 10th with a single. Smokey Burgess followed with a single and Bob Skinner walked. Then Groat came through with his game-winning single.

Milwaukee made only two hits but converted both into runs in sweeping the three-game series. Earl Averill on Ray Boone's Cececarrelli gave up just one hit in six innings. A bloop single by Andy Patko in the fifth. But a throwing error by third baseman Earl Averill on Ray Boone's grounder preceded the hit and Johnny Logan followed with a sacrifice fly to score Boone.

Don Elston, who hurled the last two innings for the Cubs, gave up the other hit and run in the eighth when Logan doubled, went to third on a fly and scored on pitcher Bob Buhl's squeeze bunt. Buhl allowed six hits for his 11th victory and fourth shutout.

Jerry Lynch hit a two-run homer in the eighth to snare a 3-3 Newcomer's 12th victory. Newcomer also hit a home run as the over the Cards.

The Giants led 2-1 after 3½ innings of the first game when rain called a halt. Since the Giants are no longer scheduled in Philadelphia, the games may be moved to San Francisco when the Phils visit there Sept. 11-13.

Life of TV Show Generally Five Years

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—How long can a TV series keep going? Warner Anderson of "The Lineup" says the life expectancy of a hit series is four or five years. "Shows like 'I Love Lucy' and 'My Friend Irma,' start to pall after that time," he argues. "The public begins to say, 'I've seen that before.'"

Yet here is "Father Knows Best" defying all the experts by swinging into its sixth year stronger than ever. I dropped by the set to see how Robert Young's TV wife, Jane Wyatt, is bearing up under the grind.

"I can't understand it," she remarked. "At this stage in a series, it's a miracle."

Coming and Going

Mrs. Mary Johnson and granddaughter, Catherine Johnson have returned home from an extended vacation trip to Los Angeles, and San Diego, Calif., where they visited her son Richard Johnson and her granddaughter, Mrs. LaQuita Johnson Morris and family. En route home they stopped in Dallas, Texas where they visited Mrs. Lela Burke. They were accompanied home by Mrs. Johnson's son, Dick.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wilson and son, Richard Charles, Mrs. Martha Wilson, and Mrs. Cleaster Randle and son, Berry, have returned home from a vacation in Los Angeles and other points in Southern California.

everything is supposed to start dwindling. But the scripts keep getting better and better. We've had four for the next season that are among the best we've ever had."

Therein lies one secret of the show's continued favor: Good Many filmed series are ground out in two or three days. "Father Knows Best" has a day of rehearsal and four days of filming. "It's hard work," Jane admitted. "We have, of course, with actors seldom achieve—the security of a steady job. But I'm not so sure that I would have signed for six years. I don't like knowing that I will be using the same script for so long."

The Emmy award winner still isn't really married to Bob Young (her husband is businessman much longer than this double life could last).

"Contractually, just one more seven-year deal for the series. No, I can't see it going any longer than that."

The Little Rock Theater burned in 1840 and there were no more dramatic presentations in the Capital city for nearly 20 years.

In 1917, Little Rock established an airport which was made an intermediate airport by Federal authorities.

Many Bumps Await Ike on European Tour

By ARTHUR GAYSHON

LONDON (AP) — All sorts of bumps await President Eisenhower on his big tour beginning Wednesday of the countries where he scored his greatest World War triumphs.

The President's main task will be to get America's allies used to the idea of the drawing of a "Big Two" diplomacy. A secondary chore will be to try to dispel some of the rumors between the British government on the one hand and the French and West Germans on the other.

If Eisenhower can improve relations between British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, French President Charles de Gaulle and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, he can approach his meeting with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev with the added authority of the leader of a united West.

Each of the three major Western governments has been jostled and shoved the others behind when arrangements were being made for the President's nine-day tour of West Europe.

The Little Rock Theater burned in 1840 and there were no more dramatic presentations in the Capital city for nearly 20 years.

In 1917, Little Rock established an airport which was made an intermediate airport by Federal authorities.

Stamp of Andrew Jackson Is on City of New Orleans

THIS IS THE SECOND AND LAST OF TWO picture-page reports on a 1,000-mile tour of southern Louisiana by The Editor July 30-August 2 while gathering color photos for a Color Show the newspaper will present later in the year.

THE MAP — OUR STORY LAST MONDAY DEALT with Natchitoches, after which we drove to Alexandria, picking up U. S. Highways 71 and 190 for Baton Rouge. But your Editor didn't cross the Mississippi river bridge into the Louisiana capital. Instead of taking the airline highway to New Orleans we elected to go down the west side of the Mississippi on the Old River Road, Louisiana Nos. 1 and 18, and crossing the river at the Huey P. Long Bridge, entering New Orleans from the west. We did this because years ago the late Jim Henry of Hope told your Editor that on this little-known route one could find excellent examples of old Southern mansions which had been restored by wealthy families of New Orleans.

WE SAW ONE OR TWO BUT BAD WEATHER prevented pictures. Nevertheless the Old River Road is recommended to those who are looking for a leisurely drive winding in and out of old-time plantations under the shadow of the Mississippi levee. Some of the old Louisiana towns you will see: Port Allen, where we lunched; Plaquemine, a name frequently mentioned in Louisiana No. 1 for Louisiana No. 18 and enter the heart of the old plantation district.

THE PICTURES:

MIDDLE LEFT — GENERAL ANDREW JACKSON'S statue in Jackson Square. Saviour of New Orleans in the battle against the British, General Jackson was received in this square in triumph in 1815. Facing the square is the Cabildo, ancient headquarters building of the Spanish and French régimes, where the documents were signed turning the Louisiana Purchase over to the United States — a deal made secure until Jackson beat the British. The words engraved on the statue's base sound like before: "The Union must and shall be preserved." History records that General Jackson feared the British in front of him less than the city at his rear, filled with people who had nonchalantly worn the loyalties of the flags. But he found a way to make sure of their support against the common enemy. As related in the picture, "The Buccaneers," Jackson called the leaders of New Orleans together on the eve of battle and said: "Tomorrow we will whip the British — if we mean to burn down every building in your city!" To New Orleans honors Old Hickory above all men.

TOP RIGHT — THIS MAGNIFICENT MANSION could illustrate what New Orleans aristocrats risked to build above ground — although actually it belongs to a later era. It is the Alfred J. Moran home on the corner of Fourth and Prytania Sts. We asked the Orleans Chamber of Commerce to identify it fully. The reply said: "In 'A Guide to Architecture of New Orleans' written by Samuel Wilson, Jr., F. A. I. A., an authority both architecture and history in New Orleans, this house is identified as the Short-Moran house, 1448 Fourth St., the description is as follows: 'A New Orleans version of the Italian Villa style built in 1859 by Robert Hughes, builder from Baltimore. The architect was the distinguished Henry Howard, then in partnership with Alfred Diettel. The cast-iron fence, in cornstalk pattern, erected by Wood & Millerberger, the New Orleans branch of the noted Philadelphia foundry of Wood & Perot.'

BOTTOM RIGHT — THIS SOMBER PICTURE is essential to any story of southern Louisiana, where the land lies so close to tide-water that cemeteries have to be built above ground. That's how it is in New Orleans — it's the same in Houma, La., west of the city on U. S. 90 where this photograph was taken. The heavy clouds took off for New Iberia, and it hit us a few minutes later as we turned north on Louisiana No. 13 for Alexandria.
